General Description

Post-Doctoral Position in Theoretical Condensed Matter Physics

The City College of New York

We have an immediate opening for a post-doctoral fellow with background in theoretical aspects related to exciton-polaritons and/or exciton transport. Candidates familiar with electronic properties of two dimensional materials such as graphene and transition metal dichalcogenides as well as numerical methods are preferred. The theoretical research will be in close collaborations with experimental groups at City College and MIT.

To apply, please go to rfcuny.org. and click on About RF, then Careers, then Research and find the position in the list. Submit you C.V., including the publications list, and statement of research interests.

Interested applicants should also send their C.V., including the publications list, and statement of research interests to Professor Pouyan Ghaemi by email at pghaemi@ccny.cuny.edu. They should also arrange for at least two letters of recommendations to be sent by email.
