General Description

Queens College seeks a full-time Strength and Conditioning Coach. The Strength and Conditioning Coach is a support staff member under the leadership of the Director of Sports Medicine (in the Athletics Student Support Services area). The Strength and Conditioning Coach is responsible for conducting sport-specific season testing, designing and implementation of safe and effective strength training and conditioning programs including Winter & Summer packets, and providing guidance to student-athletes representing 19 NCAA Division II sponsored sports and nationally competitive Dance team.

Duties include, but are not limited to: oversee the athletic performance operations to ensure compliance with institutional, conference and governing bodies rules and regulations; coordinate time schedules for use of the facility by each sport team and individual student athlete; teach proper resistance training exercise techniques and assist in spotting when necessary; oversee the selection, installation, and maintenance of performance equipment (cleaning and repair); take on interns throughout the academic year and perform subsequent duties; develop and submit annual budget; perform other duties as assigned by supervisor. Individual must be willing to teach a 400 level course built around the NSCA Essentials of Strength & Conditioning textbook.

Other Duties

The individual must have enough mobility to perform the following activities: running, walking, sitting, climbing, balancing, stopping, kneeling, crouching, or crawling. Candidates must have the ability to demonstrate various speed & agility drills, jumps, throws and weightlifting movements.

Position may seek additional compensation working in summer camp or fitness facilities (upon approval of supervisor).

Applications are currently being accepted and interviews will begin immediately. This vacancy will remain open until a qualified candidate is identified.
